

ERIS - Environmental Risk Information Services is the first and only company to provide comprehensive data to assess environmental risk for properties throughout all of the US and Canada. ERIS is the leading source of current and historical property information in both jurisdictions, meeting criteria set by the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) and Canadian Standards Association (CSA). ERIS delivers accurate, affordable, on-demand radius database reports and historical products, including aerials, topographic maps, city directories, fire insurance maps and title searches. Reports are flexible, comprehensive and timely - your choice of preview, database, custom radius or linear reports, or report packages. And now, there is ERIS DIRECT - an online subscription product that allows real-time access to ERIS' environmental data through text-based searches performed on individual address and/or company name.
